LODGE NO. 17 KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ATTENDED DIVINE SERVICE SUNDAY

THIRTY-TWO GIR KNIGHTS IN LINE

Rev. Mr. McNeichel Preaches

Rev. W. McNeichel preached the annual sermon to the Knights of Pythias in this town on Sunday evening Sept. 24th. 1911. The church was uncomfortably crowded. There were present, wearing badges, a goodly number of the officers and members of the society, these occupying the center pews of the church. A large choir led the service of song in a very capable manner. Miss Simpson of Calgary, formerly of Claresholm, rendered a solo very beautifully.

Mr. McNeichel founded his address on 1st Cor. 1643—"Quit you like men, be strong." Among other things he said that there were very few very bad men today and very few very good, but that every man was slowly and imperceptibly moving toward the one condition or the other. It is always the words nor the acts of the individual that tell the truth of his life but the current of his inner thoughts.

Some of the elements of true manhood which the preacher dwelt upon were moral and physical courage; an intelligent mind; benevolence and honor. He emphasized the need of going along with "no", and sticking to it. Dwell on the need of independent thinking. Referred to the servility of the party press, whose chief aim seemed to be to deceive while men are being lulled with the promise of position etc. as a child is with a toy. Mr. McNeichel advised young men to leave card and billiard tables to others, and to use their time in studying masterpieces of literature by which they could broaden their views, develop their sympathies, and strengthen their mental faculties. He then afforded himself a wealth of pleasure and satisfaction unknown in other fields. As to honor, he said, with many it is a very vague word, but honor means truth, purity, integrity, justice. And quoted Burns as saying, "A King can make a belted Knight, A Marquis, Duke, and a' that But an honest man's alone his might. Gild him with munnis 'e' that". Mr. McNeichel remarked that men who were strong mentally, morally, spiritually and intellectually ought to help those who were weak or less by infirmities no matter from what cause.

He then gave a brief history of the Order of the K. P.'s pointing out that the patron saints of the Order were Dunan and Pythias. That the Order was formed at the close of the civil war in the U.S. for the purpose of uniting the opposing factions. In the bonds of true friendship and citizenship. He pointed out that an ideal knight of old was the personation of all the higher and nobler attributes of man's nature and that the candidate for knighthood in this modern sense was expected to prove himself to be possessed of all the virtues of true manhood, such as friendship, loyalty, honor, justice, loyalty and truth. No atheist, infidel, gambler, sullen, temper, bartender, flatterer, or licentious need knock for admission at the doors of the K. P.'s.

The speaker congratulated the members on the principles and work of the order, but said that he did not believe such principles could be enough to lift us any way in his life without the aid of the Ideal Man, the great elder brother, Jesus Christ. The greatest and best of the fraternal societies were outgrowths of the church of Christ, and were but emphasizing one aspect of the work of the church, often to the neglect of all others. And many of the members did not seem to know that their society received its foundation principles from the church, even although they delighted to proclaim the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of men as cardinal principles of their order. They failed to recognize that Jesus Christ was the son of God, the express image of the Father, and that his brother, they failed to recognize that no man ever emphasized more definitely and strongly by the principles of their society than He, and that one should command greater consideration, honor, and admiration. And the speaker believed that only they who came to the strength of this great Elder Brother could accomplish it to their own satisfaction and to the highest good of their fellow men.

Examining the Gas Contract

Acting upon the invitation of the High River council, the towns of Macleod, Grange, Shavely, Nanton, Okotoks and Claresholm sent representatives to a meeting called to consider the agreement presented by the Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., who are proposing to pipe gas from the Bow Island wells along the existing railway routes via Macleod to Calgary. The Company was represented by Mr. McLaws, a member of the firm which is acting as selector for the Gas Co., who entered into a full explanation of the several clauses of the agreement and answered questions put to him by the representatives of the towns interested. Commissioner Graves presented the Calgary view of the agreement and Mr. McLaws assured the other towns that exactly similar treatment, both as to prices and contracts would be given to each of the towns which have been approached by the Company. It was eventually assented to by the Mr. McLaws for the Company, that the clause in the agreement covering artificial gas should be eliminated and the explanation was that the Co. had acquired the franchise of a company for the manufacture of gas in Calgary which franchise had 15 years to run and the clause relating to artificial gas was intended for Calgary.

Another clause in the agreement which permitted the Gas Co. to compete with the towns having lighting plants was modified so that the franchise for lighting by natural gas will not be extended to the Co., unless agreed to by the council of whatever towns desire it.

The only point urged by the convention with which the Co. could not agree was the fixing of a definite time within which the gas should be available to the towns. The representative of the Co. pointed out that if unforeseen delays should occur so that a small portion only of the period decided upon should remain, each of the towns would want the system installed first and this would be a physical impossibility. Mr. McLaws pointed out that the interests of the Company called for the operation of the system in all the towns as soon as possible.

The outcome of the meeting was very satisfactory to all and it is felt that the Gas Co. are in earnest in their intentions to install their system as soon as practicable. The High River council were very hospitable to the representatives from the other towns, fed them well and treated them fine and High River is entitled to the thanks of the other municipalities along the line for their thoughtfulness and courtesy.

NOTE

A meeting of the greatest importance to the citizens of Claresholm is announced by the Board of Trade for next Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber. A large attendance is desired as such like matters as the proposition, light insurance, the coal situation, etc. will be up for discussion.

Special S. S. Anniversary

Why Postponed

The annual service to mark Children's Day which is arranged for by the S. S. Committee of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was held last Sunday morning in the church here. The children filed the centre pews of the church and the parents and others the remainder of the church. The programme which was furnished by the S. S. committee was followed throughout, making provision for music, responsive Scripture readings and an address, which was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Wm. McNeichel, on the subject, "Come Unto Me—Christ's Most Winning Word." In addition to the regular programme, a hymn was sung by a class of ten or twelve girls about ten years of age. The attendance was splendid and the interest manifested in the programme followed was very great.

The mass meeting announced for last Saturday has been postponed till some later date. The adverse weather of last week and the fact that many people considered the meeting had been called somewhat too hurriedly led to the postponement. The farmers who might be expected to be most ready to lend their assistance to the proposed measures could not be expected to know their own position until their grain has been threshed and the quantity and quality of the yield known. Then a far more intelligent discussion could be entered into and immediate responses be received. The movement is a most popular one but it is deemed advisable to defer action until the crop is ready for marketing.

A. W. P. Lowrie and M. G. McCarroll of the Government Survey were here last Thursday.

H. DUNCAN, EDITOR.FOLDED HANDS USELESS

The coal situation in spite of various unsupported statements of the settlement of the strike being imminent, remains an ominous cloud on our horizon. The city of Calgary is viewing the coal shortage condition as an alarming one and to the smaller towns it is even more so as the many of the city must be filled first. We think it is necessary that a meeting be held either of council or board of trade singly or a joint meeting and the situation squarely faced. We have no suggestions at present but some one may have this matter fully considered and the solution, if any, discovered.

SMELLS LIKE GAS

The gas project seems to have assumed a very promising aspect. As far as lighting is concerned it is not at all likely to compete with our municipal lighting system, and the contract will be modified to give the municipal council the right to decide as to a gas lighting franchise. For power purposes it would not be of such great advantage to present users of power machines but for any industries of size or consequence, enhancing the advantages of this town as a manufacturing site, the cheap gas for power purposes would weigh in Clareholm's favor. But as a fuel for heating purposes, the coming of the gas would prove of incalculable value. Any stove fitted for coal could be transformed very cheaply into a gas burner. The same is true of furnaces. Natural gas is a clean fuel, does not demand large storage accommodation, and is not affected by strikes owing to the small force necessary for its distribution. The price is very reasonable at 45c. per thousand for domestic purposes. A ton of hard coal is reckoned to be equal by 15000 feet of gas and the comparison with soft coal would be slightly more in favor of the gas. However the quality of the gas might alter these figures very much. It is evident that the fuel bills would be less with gas. But the great advantage to us in this town would be the reliability of the source of supply. Judging by the wells at Medicine Hat, nature's storehouse, once discovered, is practically inexhaustible. We know what the history of the coal supply of the past five years, at least, has been and from present indications, we are not assured of any release from harrowing uncertainty every fall and winter and spring as to whether we should have an adequate fuel supply or not.

Power of Compound Interest

A man may secure an absolutely sure income of $500 per year for his little five year old daughter or grand daughter, from the time she is 55 to the end of her days, if he will pay to the Canadian Government the sum of $60.75. If she should die at any time before reaching the Annuity age the money paid, together with three per cent compound interest, will be refunded to the purchaser or his heirs. There are but few parents, who when they understand the matter, will not be anxious to make the investment. If they can spare the money, in order to have the assurance that their daughter, no matter what reverses may befall her after she is 55, would have a comfortable income in her old age—an income that she cannot be deprived of by any person or by any process of law. Full particulars of this excellent scheme may be had on application to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters are sent for postage.

Laetier Will Continue to Lead Liberal Party

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Sir, Wilfrid Laurier will continue to lead the Liberal party in the present. The group of progressive correspondents he said that he would not drop out of politics at the present. "I would feel ill-disposed to do so," he said. "I have friends here who are so much interested in the political and negotiations of ministers placed in Earl Grey's hands as soon as possible."

Death Follows Accident

From the effects of a serious accident which occurred on Wednesday evening of last week, Erick E. Gude after lying in a state of coma for almost a week, attended by his physician and watched by sorrowing friends, passed into the Great Beyond last Tuesday night, before his son Ole who was hastening from Lawton, N. D., could reach his bedside. The deceased was a native of Norway but came to America about 30 years ago, settling near Lakota, N. D., where two of his sons were born. Seven years ago he moved from Brocklet, N. D. to Canada and has practically made his home here since 1904. Mr. Gude was an experienced farmer and adapted himself to the conditions of this district and met with a fair measure of success. He had two brothers living in the same neighborhood, Chris and Rylfist, and a sister and brother in Dakota. Mrs. John Simed and Mrs. Louie Gude were sisters of the deceased. He leaves a wife and three grown sons, Carl and Edwin at home here, and Ole of Lawton, N. D. Deceased was by profession a member of the Lutheran church. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2 p.m. from his late residence and interment in the cemetery near the Five Mile school.

Going and Coming

It is learned that W. B. Doyle leaves the beginning of October for his farm which is located about seventy miles north of Medicine Hat. Two sons of Rev. Wm. McNichol will homestead on land adjoining Mr. Doyle's location. Mrs. Doyle will spend a few weeks with friends in town until all necessary arrangements are made for her moving to the farm for a time. Rev. R. K. Peck has purchased the furniture and has rented of Mr. Doyle's house and will take up occupancy on October 1st.

Medals Awarded

The Silver Medal presented by the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the exhibitor gaining the largest aggregate number of prizes for live stock was won by the Stewart Ranch at this year's Clareholm Fair. Three points were allowed for a first prize, two for a second and one for a third prize. The Bronze Medal presented by the same bank to the exhibitor gaining the largest number of prizes in Grains and Grasses was awarded to Ed. Strangways.

A Day for the Young

Next Sunday will be observed by the Methodist Sunday School as Children's Day. Special decorations will make the church attractive and the pastor, Rev. J. M. Harrison will address the School at the morning service. In the evening the pastor will address the Young People's Society. Special music has been prepared for both occasions. The following Sunday, October 5th, will be Rally Day and a special programme will be rendered by the School.

W. A. Lyndon was in on Tuesday to meet Miss Stewart, the teacher who has been engaged for the school at Lyndon.

S. J. Scott, formerly on the R.N.W.M.P. force here, but now a business man of Cananook was in town last Tuesday.

Mr. Cornie mgr. Jas. Clark Co. was a passenger on the evening train to Calgary last Monday on a rush business trip.

J. A. Graystein was in Calgary election night. The excitement and noise there made New York sound like a graveyard.

A. J. Arnold of High River, was here last Thursday on business connected with the sitting of the District Court.

Judge Crawford, of Macleod, and the clerk of the District Court, T. A. Powell, were here last Friday to attend the sitting of the District Court here.

T. G. Beaver of Minneapolis, who is very well known here, was in town Tuesday on business connected with his land interests here.

F. W. Sigel of Calgary, was here last Monday overlooking the McLaughlin car owned by Price & Walls here.

F. A. Bousfield of High River came to town last Friday and spent a few days making periodical calls. He conducted services in the Roman Catholic church here last Sunday.

C. G. Lamont, a Calgary real estate man, was in town last Friday on business connected with the townsite purchased by a local syndicate.

T. C. Taylor of Pendleton, Oregon, was here last Thursday. He inspected his farm which Edlin Nelson has been working for him.

A group of telephone men arrived in town Tuesday to make repairs on the provincial Code, Telephone lines in this district.

Frank Murray shipped two car-beds of wheat this week. He would sooner have it in Port Arthur than in the field. Who would not?

Six thousand bushels of fall wheat was shipped from Claresholm last week grown on the Mayo's farm south-east of town.

Merrill Soudal, the Emus Nest, came here last Friday night on a Champion and left for Claresholm Saturday.

Most Worshipful Grand Master Thomas McKillop, of Lethbridge, will pay official visit to Glen Lodge, No. 22 A. F. & A. M. G. R. A. at their next regular meeting, October 17th.

The site of the new C.P.R. depot at Sixth Avenue presents a busy scene this week. A large staff are working over the material and a large quantity of stone is on the ground. It looks now as if we would soon be able to exchange our old red shack for a fine new depot alike a credit to Claresholm and to the C.P.R.

C. Mason of Calgary, formerly with the C.B. of C. here is spending his vacation in town, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lindsay.

F. W. Priest, of Calgary, spent last week with his daughter at Fisher Creek and Saturday and Sunday renewing old acquaintances in Claresholm.

Rev. J. M. Harrison, pastor of the Methodist church, here who is holding at his fruit ranch in Summerland, B. C., is expected home today.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church met last week at the home of Mrs. Thomas. The next gathering will be at the home of Mrs. Dr. Stevens.

Thomas Moore of the "4-P" Ranch returned from his home in St. Clair, Michigan, last Sunday morning and left for the ranch on Monday. Mrs. Moore and family are not expected to return here until spring.

R. G. Bissett, Meadow Creek, was in town last Tuesday. They had more snow out this week than we had here. Cutting is almost over. No threshing has been done as yet. Frost has damaged the grain but the yield will be most excellent.

David Rimmage, brother-in-law of W. C. Thomas, taken to Calgary last Thursday, to the hospital there, suffering from appendicitis. Mr. Rimmage underwent an operation last Monday and reports again a speedy recovery.

It is expected that all the grain in this district will be cut this week. Frost damage is accounted to have been very slight. The yield will grade around three. A general spirit of optimism prevails. If the sun will only continue to shine so pessimists will be heard from in this locality.

A few of the young friends of Mrs. Jas. McKinney assembled at her home on the occasion of a recurrence of her birthday last Friday evening and a few hours were spent in music and social intercourse. The guests took advantage of the occasion to express their hearty wishes for Mrs. McKinney's continued health and happiness.

The address of Principal Bowdler delivered before the Young People's Society at the Methodist church Monday evening on "Our Banking System" was the subject of most favorable comment. The subject had received careful thought and study and was presented in Mr. Bowdler's own clear-cut, forceful manner and much interest was manifested by his audience.

The High River council invited a conference with representatives from the other towns on this line which were interested in the gas proposition made a short time ago to these towns. Messrs. N. Holmes and C. W. Jansie attended from Claresholm. A public explanation will be made of the terms of this gas proposition to the citizens of this town soon.

Two American visitors are the guests of Mayor and Mrs. C. G. Milnes this week. They are Wm. J. Milnes, brother of the Mayor, and Zach Hamilton, both of Stuyvesant, Indiana. The "one" took interest in the future of this district and being level-headed business men are qualified to judge of our prospects. We spare our own biases by not repeating the nice things these gentlemen are saying about Claresholm.

The local implement men have no chance to figure up the extent of their binder sales this season. The Deering boys the lunch. Last Saturday S. L. Deering purchased the fifth binder sold this season by the Deering representative here. The large sale this season is a hard testimony to the quality of this binder, handled by V. A. Deering. Fifty in one season sounds like a record. Other makes have had large sales but the Deering was in a fair way to double the sales of the other machines. Alot.

Mr. John Simpson, of Peterborough, Ontario, his fourth year, is making a trip through the West visiting his sons, who are scattered here and there in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Mr. Simpson visited his son Andrew, at Kamsack, Sask., spent a few days with his son Kenneth in Calgary, and this week is the guest of his son Geo. Simpson here. He has one more baby to visit, James, at Canmore, Alta. Mr. Simpson is very much taken up with the West and says if he were a younger man he would stay right here.

Echo treated her with the same fingering the keys.

"How are you getting on with that?"
she asked the younger girl.

"We don't get on a little bit," she snapped. "But never seems to connect much revenue, and we just keep footing it slowly. Wish I was married and had a home of my own."

"Are you happy with father and mother?"

Polly glanced at Echo, with a smile.
"Lord, yes," she replied, "in a way, but I'm only a poor relation! Your ma was my mother's cousin, or something like that."

Echo laughed. "Nonsense," she retorted. "Nonsense. You're my dear sister and the only daughter that's at
the old home now."

"But I want a home of my own like this," said Polly.

"Then you'd better shake him and give him a chance."

Polly was too disgusted to answer
at once. "Silly fellow," she said. "I don't care for him. He's afraid of me," she said at length.

"With all his criticism," she declared.
"Why doesn't he come to see you more often?"

"I don't know. Maybe it's because he never forgives you for marrying John."

"Why should he mind that?" she asked, startled.

"Well, you know," she answered between sitches, drawing the needle through the cloth with angry little jerks. "But he never quite believed Dick was dead."

Echo rose hastily. The vague, hant-ing half thoughts of weeks were explained on the instant. She felt as if Dick was trying to speak to her from out of the great beyond. With a shuder she went into a chair at the table opposite Emily.

"Don't," she said, her voice scarcely above a whisper. "I can't bear to hear him speak of it. I dreamed of him the other night—a dreadful dream."

Polly was delighted with this new mystery. It was all so fantastic!

"Did you?" she asked.

With trembling eyes Echo gazed stare, almost, regarding from her dream a fairer a tragedy of the desert
in which the two men who had played so great a part in her life were the actors.

"It seems," she told, "that I was in the desert, such a vast, terrible desert, where the little dirt devil could find and swallow the meekness and beat down until it shivered up every growing thing."

Polly nodded her head sadly.

"That's the way the desert looks, and no water."

Echo paid no heed to the interruption. Her face became white and haggard as in her mind's eye she saw the weary waste of waterless land quiver and swim under the light of the sun.

Not a tree, not a blade of grass, not a sign of life, broke the monotony of crumbling cliffs and jagged rocks.

Onward and ever onward stretched yellow ridges and alkali watered rains, blinding the eye and parching
the throat.

"Then I saw a man staggering toward me," she continued. "His face himself to me, he came toward me with his arms outstretched. Then another form appeared between us, fighting to keep him back. He fought there under the burning sun in the hot dust of the desert until at last one was crushed to death. The victor raised his face to mine, and it was Dick's."

Echo turned her face in her hands.
Dry sobs shook her bosom. Awe stricken, Polly gazed at the other wrought wife.

"How?" she laughed to shake off her fright. "That was a sure enough nightmare. If I'd a dream like that I'd wake up the whole house yapping
like a coyote."

At the commonplace ever intrudes upon the moment, so a knock on the door relieved the tension of the sit-

for an invitation to enter, but, opening the door, asked, "Can I come in?"

"Sure, come in," cried Polly, glad to find anyone to shake off the depression of Echo's dream.

"Howdy, Mrs. Fayson," the just over to see Jack," was the just sherriff's greeting.

"It's down at the corral," she informed him.

Mrs. Allen hurried in from the kitchen at this moment, calling, "Echo,
come here an' look at this here cake
I've baked for you."

Echo closed the lid of the piano and called her mother's attention to the presence of Slim Hoover.

"How dyo do, Slim Hoover? You might have let some of that dust out
the old home now."

"Then you'd better shake him and

"Echo," he granted.

"What did he die of?" she repeated.

"Five years," was the answer, "and the sherriff before he died the doctor."

Polly put the beam back of the door and was restraining the crying and the tale before Slim could utter any other charge to speak on the topic which was always prominent in his mind when in her presence.

"Slim Hoover," he began.

"If you're anything to say to me, Slim Hoover, just say it. I can't be bothered today—all the folks an'
the folks," he said at length.

"Well, what I want to say is"— began the sherriff.

"At this moment Bud Lane, laboring under heavy excitement, burst upon the door."

"Say, Slim, you're wanted down at the corral," he cried, paying no heed
to Polly.

"Shucks!" exclaimed the disappointed
sherriff. "What's the row?"

"I don't know. Buck McKee, the son of some of the Lays I outfit.
They want to see you."

Slim thrust himself out of the door,
leaving the lid captive. "Darn the luck!"

But turned quickly to Polly. "Did Jack tell you the mortgage had been paid?" he asked.

Polly stamped her foot in anger at what seemed to her to be a totally irrelevant question.

"The weekly payment plan."

"The weekly payment plan," she repeated. "How do I know?" she asked.

"For example, if a man at present owed $1000, he would pay $100 a week for the next 10 weeks."

"That's all right," she said. "But

C. P. R. Operate New Lines

It is stated that in a short time the entire line of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Moose Jaw, Outlook, Kerrol, and Kerrol, in Saskatchewan,
will be opened for traffic. Services have been operated for some time at either end of the line between Moose Jaw and Outlook and Macklin
and Kerrol, but it was only last month that the central portion of the line between Outlook and Kerrol
was opened.

It is now 207 miles from Moose Jaw
to Macklin and Kerrol, and the line was started north of Outlook in May, 1910. The new line leaves Moose Jaw in a northerly direction, and runs through a rich farming country.
Eventually it will be a junction with the Lacombe-Castor Branch at Kerrol. When the whole line is opened for traffic it will be a great boost to all classes of traffic in Saskatchewan, for not only will the farms along the right-of-way benefit, but it will give the towns and cities, now rapidly growing, in the vicinity of the line, a direct new connection with the main line of the C. P. R. to Moose Jaw, Regina, Brandon, Winnipeg,
Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago.

FARMERS List With Us at Once*Local Address Box 39 Claresholm, Alta.*THE GREAT CHIEFTAIN WILL
"STAY WITH THE BOYS"

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will remain at the head of the Liberal party and lead the opposition when the new parliament meets some six weeks hence. He was at his office again early on Saturday morning, looking and feeling physically as fit as ever. He shows his greenness as much in defeat as in victory, serene in the confidence that Thursday's result brings with it no disgrace, and that the principle for which he and his party have stood must ultimately triumph. To his newspaper friends who called on him he smilingly declared that he was still ready "to stay with the boys" and lead the Liberal forces when the new parliament meets.

Any comment on the verdict of Thursday he will reserve for a public statement later.

The feeling in Ottawa among Conservatives and Liberals alike is one of personal regret for the prime minister and that the fortunes of political war have brought temporary defeat, and this feeling is mingled with perhaps an even intensified feeling for the "old chief," whose long record of public service shows no blot, and whose character, ability and statesmanship are today as unquestioned as ever. Sir Wilfrid would personally prefer to take the opportunity of seeking a well-earned rest from the constant stress and cares of public life and gratify his longing for hours of leisure in the library, but his decision to remain at his post as head of the party is because of the general desire of his colleagues and supporters, and because he believes that he has a task to finish for Canada. He is following the precedent set by Gladstone, who after defeat again led his party back to power.

WONT GO TO OFFICE

The premier called on Earl Grey on Saturday afternoon, and arranged to transfer the administration over to the incoming premier, Mr. Borden, as soon as the necessary preliminaries can be arranged. This will probably be some time next week. There will be a meeting of the cabinet to-morrow, and no time will be lost in winding up all affairs of routine departmental business so as to leave everything in readiness for the new premier to begin business. Nothing was said what the plans of the defeated ministers would be, pending their consultation with the premier to-morrow.

Mr. Borden arrived in the city this morning and was met at the station by Mrs. Borden and friends, including George Perley, who is styled as the next minister of finance. A head demonstration in his honor is being arranged for Tuesday night. Mr. Borden had nothing to say for publication today. He will be decidedly busy for the next fortnight arranging for his cabinet and attending to the great flood of correspondence now pouring in on him.

WHO WILL GET THE AXE?

Speculation is rife as to the direction in which the new government will be headed by the new premier. It is expected that a few heads will fall, but the rule that civil servants should keep out of politics has been generally faithfully observed, and not more than a half-dozen or so of changes are expected. The Laurier government continued practically the whole of the service in office in 1906, and as a matter of fact, probably half the officials of the service are still Conservative. It is not improbable, however, that there will be a complete change in the personnel of the National Transcontinental commission. The resignation of Hon. Mr. Parent and his fellow commissioners may be looked for shortly. Their task, however, is almost completed, and they will retire with honor, not one scandal having been proved in connection with the building of the railway despite the many allegations, made mostly for political effect, by the Conservatives in opposition.

HIS WESTERN PROMISES

In accordance with his antebellum promise to the west, Mr. Borden will have to include in his first legislative budget bills providing for the appointment of a western division of the Dominion railway commission to deal with western cases, and for a commission to operate the terminal elevators. He will also, in order to redeem his pledges, have to appoint a tariff commission analogous to the United States board to deal with all matters of tariff revision. It is a fact, however, that high protection will, in view of Thursday's polling, get warm justice from the new government, now that the election is won, and there is no further need for extreme and unjustified criticism of the Liberal leaders. The Conservative press is paying in some instances generous tributes to the defeated.

How It Looks

We have always believed it to be the part of wisdom to publish exaggerated reports of any district and to endeavor to mislead regarding weather conditions. Fall wheat threshing has become general in the immediate vicinity of Claresholm. John Chilton, south-east, has a yield of 34 bu. Mrs. Wammankler, south of town, has 22. Mayor Milnes, south but nearer town, has over 30. Other figures covering the same district show that the average will not be less than 20 bushels to the acre. A report on a very fair sample from this particular section gives grades of 2 and 3. Give Wilfrid adjoining the town, is threshing this week. In each case the average was around 20 acres. The average of fall wheat is about 25 per cent of the total area sown to wheat. The snowfall of last week has not affected the stand of the grain much very much. Only some fields of heavy oats are down. In fact, it is somewhat surprising how the grain has remained erect under the weight of the snowfall. What perhaps saved the situation was the fact that the snow melted rapidly and the grain was soon released from its weight. Many outfits are commencing this week, the grain being practically all in stock. The damage from frost is not very apparent but there is no doubt the higher grades of grain will not be very prominent, three being a fair average. With the increased acreage this year, the volume of wheat to be handled here will be very great, but of course not so large as if the pump berry of a month ago had been ripened and harvested non-quickly. Oats are promising 65 bushels to the acre but considerable difficulty is being met with on account of the rank growth of the straw. It is in the spring wheat yield that our disappointments that may be felt will show themselves. There is no doubt that a very great divergence will be noticeable from the different fields.

To Better Rural Life

This week there is meeting in Kansas City a convention which is making a study of how to better the conditions of rural life. The policies of Theodore Roosevelt as indicated by his country life commission were not accepted by the Taft administration. But the women are reviving this movement at the conservation convention now sitting. The questions of soil, scientific farming and the betterment of the condition of farming communities throughout the United States will be the predominant matters for consideration. The president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs is the prime mover and under her direction the convention will consider such matters as the following, which might afford excellent topics for consideration by our C.P.A. local organizations at their winter meetings:

Local country community building. The federation of all the rural forces of the state in one big united effort for the betterment of country life.

The development of institutional programmes of action for all rural social agencies. This means a programme of work for the school, another for the church, another for the farmers' institute, and so forth. The stimulation of farmer leadership in the country community. The increase and improvement of professional leadership among country teachers, ministers and all others who serve the rural community in offices of educational direction. The perpetuation among all the people of country communities of a definite community ideal, and the concentrated effort of the whole community in concrete tasks looking toward the realization of this ideal.

The recognition of the country school as the immediate initiator of progress in the average rural community of the state.

The holding of annual country life conferences.

The protection of this federation and of all country life from every form of exploitation, political, sectarian or any other.

Men's Missionary Convention

Rev. E. S. Bishop of Mabel, executive secretary of the Alberta Men's Missionary Convention, which is to be held in Calgary October 23rd to 25th, called on us last Tuesday morning. Mr. Bishop is full of enthusiasm and his spirit breathes enthusiasm in the one upon whom he is urging the claims of this great movement. As he puts it this convention "will be the greatest religious event of the West to date," and if the forecasts give any indication of the greatness of the proposed convention in its influence on the religious life of the West, he is far from being extravagant in his estimate. The meeting in Calgary will be one of a series which will be held in Vancouver, Regina, and Winnipeg. With two such grand religious workers as Dr. John R. Mott of New York, known perhaps, more widely than any prominent Y.M.C.A. worker of this generation, and Sir Andrew Fraser of Edinburgh, one of the ablest and most effective advocates of the laymen missionary movement, the convention cannot but be most effective in enlightening and educating all who come within the sphere of its influence. An attempt will be made to reproduce the Great National Congress held in Toronto two years ago under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and the fact of such a gathering of Christian leaders in Alberta makes such a convention the religious event, in importance and influence in Alberta's history.

Feels Warmer Already

A hurry up meeting of the executive board of the United Miners was called at Mabel Tuesday, and last night there were rumors of the probable settlement of the strike. The impression was prevalent that representatives of the operators would be in Mabel and negotiations for a settlement would be commenced. It is well known that both sides are weary of the strike and both would go a generous distance in the way of compromise. The operators have not met with the success expected in the way of getting non-union labor, and the men on the other hand do not relish facing winter weather on the strike allowance. If an honorable compromise is possible it will be reached at this conference. The men at Mabel who have been ordered out of their homes would sooner compromise than have their families turned out on their homes but they will not surrender. Recognition of the union, as in the past and a few very slight concessions would find the miners ready to return to work. But there will be no sacrifice of union principles and the operators will undoubtedly have to deal with the men as a collective body and not as individuals as has been the effort of the last few months.

If the miners are started this week real shipment will start in three weeks. The pumps have been kept going and the mines are not in the state of their prior anomalous Alberta.

Wont Stop

The habit of winning prizes with his fine horses has become chronic with J. A. Gaudin. Over at Carmichael Fair, he selfishly annexed first and second prizes for Heavy Draft Mare or Gelding, six ages, two traits for Team to Wagon in two classes, first for Single Driver, 15-2 and under, and two specials securing first for Best Single Driver to Buggy, best single harness and for Best Four-Horse outfit, a set of light harness, brass mounted.
